

Join us for 'Ye Night of Fine Entertainment'

Gloucestershire's own piggy bank, The Old Spot Trust, is hoping local people will help boost its coffers by feasting and 'making merrie'.

The charitable trust promises 'ye night of fine entertainment' at a fundraising Medieval Banquet. Jesters, music from Bubonic Wind and fine food will be on offer for those prepared to don their Medieval togs and head to Over Farm, near Gloucester on Saturday 17 September 2011.

The Trust recently handed out just under £9,000 to charities, community groups and non profit making organisations throughout the county in its annual grant-giving. Applications from more than 35 groups aimed at helping Gloucestershire's people, animals, wildlife and environment were considered by Trustees. Among those receiving grants were Acorns Children's Hospice, Gloucestershire Wildlife Trust, the Friends of Kimbrose Lunch Club and Cinderford Hard of Hearing Club

"Our aim is to raise money to help Gloucestershire and we do this by holding events throughout the year," said Trustee Rob Keene. "It's the first time we have organised a Medieval Banquet for The Trust and it looks se to be a cracking night. People can come along and have great fun while knowing that they are helping local good causes."

Tickets for the Banquet cost £35.00 each and are available from Over Farm, near Gloucester on 01452 414975.
